

Have you Heard?

Have you heard about Columbus?
He plans to sail out west
Anyone will tell you that he's mad!

He thinks that if he sails
He'll find India and Japan
But why risk lives for one man's crazy plan?

Hasn't he heard of sea monsters?
They'll eat up his ships and his crew
Sailing out west is a terrible risk
A foolhardy thing to do!

There are the strangest rumours
Of lands out to the west
They even say the hills are made of gold !

They say that those who live there
Are not like us at all
Their strangeness is better left untold !

Hasn't he heard of sea monsters?
They'll eat up his ships and his crew
Sailing out west is a terrible risk
A foolhardy thing to do!

Columbus is determined
He's certain he knows best
He wants to be the richest man on earth

I suppose that if his plan works
And he returns home safe
The expedition will have proved its worth.

But -

Hasn't he heard of sea monsters?
They'll eat up his ships and his crew
Sailing out west is a terrible risk
A foolhardy thing to do!

Hasn't he heard of sea monsters?
They'll eat up his ships and his crew
Sailing out west is a terrible risk
A foolhardy thing to do!
